

British Literary Manuscripts Online, c. 1660 - c. 1900

NEW COLLECTION Gale once again leads the way in literary resources with British Literary Manuscripts Online, c. 1660 - c. 1900, part of our groundbreaking Literary Manuscripts Online series. This comprehensive digital archive includes complete facsimile copies of poems, plays, essays, novels, diaries, journals, correspondence and other manuscripts from the Restoration through the Victorian era. These priceless manuscript documents — once available only to specialized literary scholars — are now available to students, instructors, and general readers alike.

The collection provides an intimate look into the lives and works of major literary figures and allows for unique insights into the history, culture and context surrounding more than two centuries of British literary achievement. Sources include some of the most prestigious collections in the world, such as The British Library; The Forster and Dyce Collection, Victoria and Albert Museum, London; The National Library of Scotland; the Folger Shakespeare Library, Washington, D.C.; Princeton University Library, Princeton, New Jersey; and the Huntington Library, San Marino, California.

Authors in British Literary Manuscripts Online, c. 1660-c. 1900 include:

- Aphra Behn
- William Blake
- Charlotte Brontë
- Elizabeth Barrett Browning
- Fanny Burney
- Robert Burns
- Thomas Carlyle
- William Cowper
- Charles Dickens
- Elizabeth Inchbald

- Samuel Johnson
- John Locke
- William Morris
- Alexander Pope
- Sir Walter Scott
- Laurence Sterne
- Jonathan Swift
- Alfred Lord Tennyson
- Oscar Wilde
- William Wordsworth
- And many others

Having these rare materials available in digital format provides all the benefits researchers expect from an online resource, such as searchable descriptive metadata; direct links from catalog entries to manuscripts; the ability to create permanent links to materials of specific interest; and much more. Digital access to these collections allows users anywhere in the world to take their research to a level never before possible.

With its depth, breadth and ease of use, British Literary Manuscripts Online unlocks history and culture. For researchers and general readers alike, this resource is an essential link to understanding literature and its times.

Future releases of our groundbreaking Literary Manuscripts Online series will cover the Renaissance and Medieval British writers, American writers and World writers.